

www.castingpar.com

September 2024

PRECIMETAL is a renowned European key player for air melted steel and stainless steel investment casting (lost wax method), specializing in the manufacturing (build to print) of medium series of investment castings up to 35 kg unit weight and maximum theoretical sizes about 400 mm X 400 mm X 400 mm for Aerospace, Defense and Industry applications
PRECIMETAL has become a specialist in accurate parts for light or heavy guns and is aware and authorized to handle with export licence regulations

Aerospace (civil & defense) :

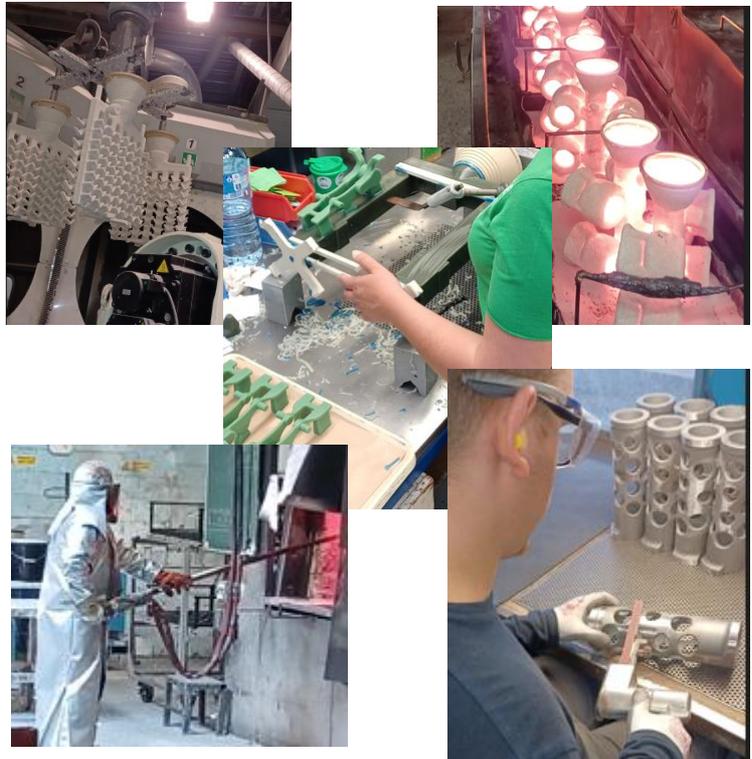

→ all potential structure parts, supports, brake parts, torque plates, door mechanisms, fittings...17 - 4 PH is our daily alloy

Security and Defense:

→ all drawing parts within the sizes detailed here above also linked to anticipated export licences authorisation

Industry

→ all build to print activity with market Leaders needing core business maintained in Europe with associated high ethic and sustainability targets

With more than 50 years of experience and about 9000 developed references, PRECIMETAL provides in-house engineering and production, co-developing complex parts. PRECIMETAL can also propose machining and surface finishing together with its sister company located south of Paris (France)

