1. Organization Background

Curriculum Development Centre (CDC) was established in 2028 B.S. It develops curricula (school level curriculum, textbooks, teacher's guide etc.), approves additional material and provides Letter of Equivalency (LOE) for those students, who graduated from foreign Board/University willing to either further study or engage in a profession or both in Nepal. It is a mandatory document as per our law. A student seeking to LOE needs to submit application with academic certificates and necessary documents in a prescribed document with prescribed fee to Curriculum Development Centre (CDC) If all criteria are met the applicant is issued LOE. The business process of issuing LOE is depicted in figure below.

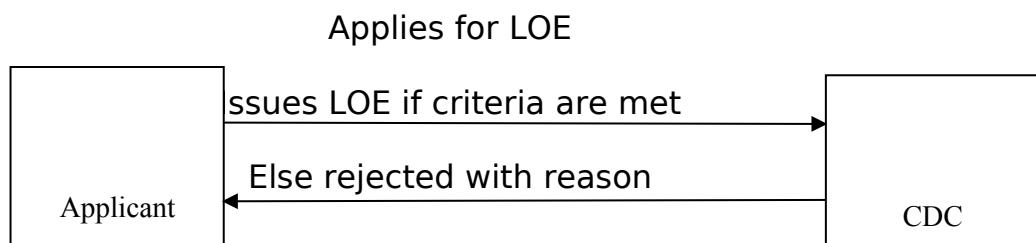

Fig: Business Process of Issuing LOE

The current system is a manual process where applicants physically present their necessary documents and fee in hard copy to CDC and upon verification CDC issues LOE. There is an internal MIS for record keeping purpose only which facilitates working staff in the process of issuance of LOE. The LOE issued by CDC is used by students mandatorily in three places; first they present it to the ministry for NOC, or they present it to the Schools/Universities /Colleges that they have enrolled, and third they present it to screening institutions for job market either public or private employer.

2. Project Overview

The applicant will apply for LOE through an online system. There will be a web-based online system where the students can register with standard verification model. There will be a multi-part form through which the user will be able to create their profiles which will include the contact information, academic details, basic address. They can also upload their photo and signature (if required).

The application is a comprehensive platform for the students as well as users where they can search colleges, apply online for LOE and generate their bar coded / QR Coded certificate. The fee for the LOE certificate issuance will be charged as per the law, e-payment module will be integrated for the convenience of the user.
