

Cryptome

20 March 2021. One name removed by request:

Please remove my below information from the "INSA Spies" document at <http://cryptome.org/0005/insa-spies.pdf> and anywhere else it is listed. The information falsely identifies me as a spy and I do not consent to my information being published. Please remove my name and the below associated information and confirm doing so via email. Thank you for honoring this request.

28 February 2019. One name removed by request:

I request that my name and personal information be immediately removed from the "INSA Spies" document at <http://cryptome.org/0005/insa-spies.pdf>. The information falsely identifies me as a spy and I do not consent to my information being published on your website. Please remove my name and the associated information as soon as possible, and confirm doing so via email.

26 August 2015. One name removed by request:

Please remove me from any and all of your lists. I do not give any consent for you to publish my name, email, or other contact information. I have never been nor will I ever be a spy nor have been associated with anything as such.

30 June 2015. One name removed by request:

Your cryptome site incorrectly identifies me as a spy. Please remove my information, which is associated with this email, from your website (Remove my name, email, and physical address). I have never served as a spy in any capacity, nor have I ever been involved in any espionage matter whatsoever. I appreciate your understanding and prompt action for my request.

14 March 2015. One name removed by request:

Please remove my name and contact information from the INSA Spies list. I am not nor have ever been a spy.

23 December 2014. One name removed by request:

I am respectfully requesting that you remove my name off of:
cryptome.org/0005/insa-spies.pdf
Your info is incorrect and I ask that no longer publish my info.

8 July 2014. One name removed by request:

I have found my name and home address in the `insa_spies` PDF and find this to be a bit hypocritical and ridiculous. I have not now nor never been a spy and find that an organization such as yours who professes privacy of data feels free to publish data that is private based upon false information.

It would be appreciated if you would remove my information from the `insa_spies` PDF. Just because someone signs up to get information on INSA activities does not make them a spy.

21 November 2013. Three names removed by request:

Your cryptome site (<http://cryptome.org/0005/insa-spies.pdf>) incorrectly identifies me as a spy. Please remove my information, which is associated with this email, from your website.

23 September 2013. Name removed by request:

While I strongly believe in open democracy, I also believe that information should be accurate, sourced and respect privacy.

I came across the document releasing my email and my personal address in a document you published in reference to my contacts with INSA as a student in Washington, DC: cryptome.org/0005/insa-spies.pdf

Because I never allowed this document to be published on your site and because your mischaracterize activities with INSA as spying, I request records and information to be removed ASAP.

7 September 2013. Name removed by request:

I was recently advised that my name and address information appears on your site in a document called insa-spies.pdf and purportedly identifies me as a spy. This representation by you is false and the use of my name or any of personal information in any context, in any forum or media, by you is not and was not ever authorized.

This communication is to demand removal of all my personal information (shown below) from the listing and from any and all other parts of your site or content immediately.

15 July 2013. Three names removed by request:

On behalf of my organization, please remove all references to employees in our organization. Thank you for your cooperation. Please confirm removal if possible.

2 July 2013. Name removed by request:

I've noticed that my name, email, and other information had been included on the INSA members list pdf, and I would like any and all information about me promptly removed. I haven't been a member of INSA for years after having initially signed up for access to information for tech writing.

7 June 2013. Name removed by request:

My name was listed on insa-spies.pdf and I am not a spy, nor do I know how my name was connected with this list. I work for Adobe. The PDF creator. Please remove my name.

20 May 2013. Name removed by request:

Please remove my name, employment information, and personal email address from this list and your website immediately. Thank you in advance for your assistance with this request.

6 March 2013. Five name variations not removed by request:

Please remove all references to me if they exist. [None of the five variations found.]

22 February 2013. Name removed by request:

Please promptly remove all reference to my name and contact information from all of your sites, documents, and files. I do not consent use of any my information. I request confirmation of your acting on request. Thank you.

7 February 2013. Name removed by request:

Can you please remove any and all of my information that you have on your website <http://cryptome.org/0005/insa-spies.pdf>, and any of my information that you may have stored or published elsewhere. I do not consent in my information being used in this way. Your prompt action is appreciated. Thank you.

13 September 2012. Name removed by request:

I just came across my site when doing a Google search of my email address. Interestingly enough you have me listed as a spy at <http://cryptome.org/0005/insa-spies.pdf>. Please remove my information from this webpage and any other pages or documents you may have this information stored, as I am not a spy, and I do not consent to any of my information being published in this fashion, especially my home address. "Intelligence analyst."

18 August 2012. Listing removed.

17 May 2012. Name removed by request:

I was made aware that my name and address information appears on your site identifying me as a spy. I previously requested removal and rather than remove my information the request was posted. This is absolutely false and you do not have permission to use my name or publish my name and address and email information. Please remove the following records immediately.

17 May 2012. Name removed by request:

I request that my name and personal information be removed from the "INSA Spies" document at <http://cryptome.org/0005/insa-spies.pdf>. The information falsely identifies me as a spy and I do not consent to my information being published on your website. Please remove my name and the associated information as soon as reasonably possible.

29 April 2012. Name removed by request:

Please remove my name from any published list. I do not consent to my name being used on any unauthorized list, site, document.

16 April 2012. Three names removed by request:

Would you please be kind enough to remove the following entries from your INSA "spys" list? I'm a geek, not a spook. Just like to read some of the various things.

14 April 2012. Name removed by request:

I request that my name and personal information be removed from the "INSA Spies" document at <http://cryptome.org/0005/insa-spies.pdf>. The information falsely identifies me as a spy and I do not consent to my information being published on your website. Please remove my name and the associated information as soon as reasonably possible.

14 April 2012. Name removed by request:

I recently had a Google search lead me to your list of INSA "spies.". I am not, and have never been, a member of INSA. I am also not, and have never been a spy, or even an employee of the government. I am also no longer with the InfraGard National Members Alliance. Please remove my information from your list.

23 January 2012. Name removed by request that included a request to not publish the email requesting removal. However, this claim of never being a member of INSA is informative:

I have never been employed in the intelligence or national security industry, nor have I ever been a member of INSA.

11 January 2012. Two names removed by request:

I was recently advised that my name and address information appears on your site in a document called insa-spies.pdf and purportedly identifies me as a spy. This representation by you is false and the use of my name in any context by you is not authorized. The source of this information is published at <http://www.cryptome.org> and found in the insa-spies.pdf.

This communication is to request removal of all my personal information (shown below) from the listing as soon as reasonably possible. (L-3 Communications, Inc.)

3 January 2012. 18 names removed by request:

It has come to our attention that contact information for certain employees of The SI Organization, Inc. has been posted to your public website in reference to INSA membership (<http://cryptome.org/0005/insa-spies.pdf>). We request all SI company and personal information, including names, titles, and email address be removed from the website immediately. Specifically, we request records/information for the following named individuals be removed:

18 Names

Thank you for your consideration in this matter. If you have any questions about this, please contact me at xxx xxx xxxx.

3 January 2012. Name removed by request:

Please remove any references to "xxxx " on your website. Thank you.

4 December 2011. Name removed by request:

I recently became aware that my email address in addition to home address are reported on your site as me being and American spy. I would appreciate my name and all information be promptly removed from your site. I am not a spy, nor have I consented for my private information to be published on your site. I would like this information removed ASAP from any and all lists you may hold please.

This is a clear violation of my privacy and can result in harassment of myself and family.

Thank you and I look forward to my information being removed

25 November 2011. Name removed by request:

I am requesting immediate removal of all my personally identifiable information from your "INSA spies list". Expedite this request. (army.mil)

13 November 2011. Four names removed by request:

Please remove my name (listed twice) on the INSA "spy" document you were so kind to publish online. I am not associated with INSA, and am not a "spy." You might want to look up the definition of the term as you're simply not accurate and it makes you sound like a 12 year old... People do go to these events for educational and academic purposes. Please remove all references to "xxxx " including all email accounts and especially my address... if you feel the need to publish this request, please remove any of my identifiers. Not that it matters, now that its out on the public domain in various formats.

Please verify once complete. (ic.fbi.gov)

11 November 2011. Name removed by request:

Please remove my name and email from the INSA mailing list ASAP.

Please confirm. (Delta Risk LLC)

4 November 2011. Two names removed by request:

It has come to my attention that my name, xxxx, appears on your INSA List of Spies PDF - which is publicly available online. I demand to be removed form this list for two reasons:

1. I did not consent to the release of this information, and was not even informed by INSA of this occurrence.
2. I am not now, nor have I ever been, officially or unofficially, been affiliated with INSA and I am not a spy.

I find it absurd that I must explicitly state that I am not a spy, and demand that I be taken off this list.

4 November 2011. Name removed by request:

I request that my name and personal information be removed from the "INSA Spies" document at <http://cryptome.org/0005/insa-spies.pdf>. The information falsely identifies me as a spy and I do not consent to my information being published on your website. Please remove my name and the associated information as soon as reasonably possible. Thank you.

30 October 2011. Name removed by request:

I was recently advised that my name and address information appears on your site and purportedly identifies me as a spy . This representation by Cryotome.org is false and the use of my name in any context by you is not authorized. The source of this information is published at <http://www.cryptome.org> and found in the insa-spies.pdf.

This communication is to request removal of all my personal information from the listing as soon as reasonably possible.

21 October 2011. Two names removed by request:

Please remove my name and home address from the INSA members document.

I am a student who signed up for an INSA cyber jobs conference and was shocked to find my home address and other identifying information on your website at <http://cryptome.org/0005/insa-spies.pdf>.

15 October 2011. Name removed by request:

Can you please remove any and all of my information that you have on your website <http://cryptome.org/0005/insa-spies.pdf>, and any of my information that you may have stored or published elsewhere. I do not consent in my information being used in this way.

Your prompt action is appreciated. Thank you.

5 October 2011. Two names removed by request:

I would respectfully request that my name and contact information be stricken from your insa-spies.pdf. I am not a spy and do not consent to my information being published on your site. Please remove my personal information as soon as possible, (name, title, business, addresses, and email) as captured in these two entries. (Department of Homeland Security dhs.gov)

Put simply, this information is not true and presents my home address in a public forum absent my consent. In light of concerns regarding my own security and what could happen in the event enemies of the United States decide to act upon this false information, I would request that you remove this information ASAP.

20 September 2011. Name removed by request:

Please remove my name from your list (INSA Nest of Official and Corporate Spies). I am not a spy. I did not consent to my name being used in this manner.

20 September 2011. Cryptome has published several lists of spies and those spies designate as "sources:"

20 September 2011. 4 names removed by request:

Please immediately remove the names, emails, addresses and any other information from your web site and any other data containers that reference KeyPoint Government Solutions personnel. Specifically, this data should also be removed from files posted regarding INSA.

20 September 2011. Name removed by request:

Please remove my name and information [Wilmer Hale law firm] (including address) from your INSA list.

19 September 2011. 33 names removed by request. Firm name revealed due to exceptional number of names:

Please immediately remove the names and personal information from your web site that reference Computer Sciences Corporation (CSC). Specifically, these data should also be removed from files posted regarding INSA. You have no legal basis to publish this information, it is totally out of context, and it violates our employees rights.

Do not post this email on your site as well.

19 September 2011. Two names removed by request:

Please remove [Verizon names] and information off of this list.

19 September 2011. Name removed by request:

Please remove my contact information from your INSA "spy" list. I am not a "spy" nor a member, in any fashion, of the U.S. intelligence community. I do not consent to my personal information being published.

19 September 2011. Name removed by request:

I have been made aware that my personal information has been posted to your website. You have erroneously identified me as an American spy. I am not and have never been. Would you please remove my personal information as soon as possible. The info was found on INSA-spies.PDF.

19 September 2011. Name removed by request:

Please remove my contact info from the INSA spy list. I am not a spy and don't need the harassment.

Please remove my name from your list (INSA Nest of Official and Corporate Spies). I am not a spy. I did not consent to my name being used in this manner.

19 September 2011. Three name entries removed by request:

Please remove my name and information off of this list.

I am not a spy and don't need the harassment.

18 September 2011. Name removed by request:

Would you mind removing me from the INSA list on you site? It shows my home address and I've never been an overt or covert spy. I'm sure there are many spies on the INSA roster, but I'm not one of them.

18 September 2011.

Get my goddamn personal information off your site. Creep.

Sincerely,

James Reddig

18 September 2011. Two name entries removed by request:

Please kindly remove my name from the list you have posted on your web site. I am not a spy. I served the United States for 26 years as a military intelligence professional, but was not involved in spying or other activities that would be described as such. I have young children and am concerned for my family's safety since being labeled as a spy by your posting, which includes my work and home addresses.

I did not consent to my name being used in this manner, and while I appreciate your efforts in the name of civil liberties, and have served most of my adult life involved in the defense of same, I am deeply offended and disappointed that you would publish this list without any regard for the implications or consequences of your actions.

17 September 2011. An inquirer asks how to be sure no covert spy is on the INSA member list and that publication of a protected identity violates the Intelligence Identities Protection Act and puts a protected spy at risk.

Answer: Those protected as covert spies do not join public organizations under their true identity. Spy literature states that it is common practice to join under false identities a variety of organizations as part of cover to solicit targets.

Covert spies have means and methods to more than amply protect against exposure as well as how to manage consequences should exposure loom or occur. They are urged to never trust those who are not covert nor their covert competitors. Deception expected, "protect thyself," a motto.

However, the accusation of revealing a cover agent's identity is frequently deployed as a public manipulation tactic by spies and their supporters such as INSA and a wide range of others committed to exploiting secrecy for their own benefit.

Covert spies are put at risk in nearly all cases by a disclosure by an insider who has access to true identities. In some cases the identity is disclosed by the spies' agency through error, by revealing to an insecure party (elected and transient officeholders always a threat), or deliberately to punish misbehavior and to send threatening signals to other spies -- counterspies use such threats as a matter of standard practice and are rewarded for unrelenting intimidation.

The consequence of the insidious infiltration by covert spies of societies worldwide: to expect deception, protect thyself from them.

The Intelligence Identities Protection Act is applicable only to insiders who have access to classified information. It does not protect the targets of covert spies nor those who have been led to believe covert spying is necessary. Outsiders without that access or protection can freely disclose what comes their way although there is an apparatus (of which INSA is a part) poised to demonize disclosure so beware if averse to stigmatization by the official secrecy cult.

A principal purpose of Cryptome since its founding is to publish such disclosures from insiders and outsiders. Send to [cryptome\[at\]earthlink.net](mailto:cryptome[at]earthlink.net).

I found my name and address listed in a file on your site, the recently posted file regarding INSA members. (insa-spies.pdf)

I am not a spy and never have been! I have never been undercover or covert. I worry about my name and home address being on the list because some nut might think I was some sort of super secret agent and things might get weird.

Would you please delete my name and address from that file? I would really appreciate it.

15 September 2011. Name removed by request:

Not been a subscriber to INSA in two years so surprised to see my info listed there.

14 September 2011. Name removed by request:

I was made aware today that on your site:

You have identified me as an American Spy. This information is not true. Moreover, you have infringed law 50 U.S.C. 421.426 [Intelligence Identities Protection Act, not applicable.] I am not a spy. I do not know how this information was leaked. This is my home address. I am afraid something will happen to me and my family if enemies of the United States decide to act upon this false information and show up at my personal home. I did not consent and I did not authorize anyone to disclose this information. Please remove ASAP. Thank you.
