

International Public Notice: "Countermeasures"

By Anna Von Reitz

The question has been asked, by Queensland Senator Malcolm Roberts-- basically-- was a military consortium behind the pandemic response?

Specifically, the Medical Countermeasures Consortium?

<https://www.technocracy.news/was-the-military-really-behind-the-pandemic-response/>

And we have an answer to his question--- yes.

Throughout the pandemic response it was heard constantly in hospitals and clinics and on the air waves --- that telltale word, "countermeasures" which is pure military verbiage.

All treatments during the pandemic were either "approved countermeasures" or "not approved countermeasures".

You may be sure that this peculiar language came directly from the Medical Countermeasures Consortium and you may also be sure that they are the ones responsible for blackballing Ivermectin and approving Remdesiver, for example.

What this verbiage means is, "We will pay for this drug, but not that one."

It has nothing to do with the effectiveness of the drug.

Remdesivir, for example, had already been withdrawn from the market and represented half a billion dollars down the drain.

Unless an emergency use could be found for it.

Make it an "approved countermeasure" on an emergency basis, and suddenly, salad days are back and the drug company that invested in the development of "Remdesivir" is also back in the black.

How many members of the Consortium had money invested in Remdesivir? How many U.S. Admirals and Generals had money invested in Remdesivir? How many members of the U.S. Congress, Inc.?

It doesn't matter what bad effects Remdesivir might have on you. It doesn't matter that it has no effect on Covid 19.

Just like it doesn't matter that Covid 19 itself has never proven to be airborne; nor, for that matter, has it been proven to exist.

Just like the media never tested all that film footage showing Chinese workers and pedestrians dropping dead. Turns out that was all fake, too.

Hard to believe, but the entire threat was faked. It was the cure that was lethal.

And the "Uniformed Officers" of the British Crown, the Medical Doctors and the Registered Nurses, might as well have been shooting guns.

Now go back and watch that very odd footage from the London Olympics, showing the mammoth outdoor floor show with all the plucky uniformed nurses pushing gurneys and flashing hypodermic needles....watch the little black demons chasing the patients across the beds....

Then replay the comment from Prince Philip saying that he'd like to come back as a "loathsome virus" and do his bit to end overpopulation.

He got his wish.

Plain and simple, the Brits planned this "tribute" to Prince Philip down to the last gasp and made the entire rest of the world pay for it.

Trillions of dollars in lost revenue, billions of dollars spent on riots and civil unrest, more than a billion lives lost so far, and the entire world disrupted for years afterward.

It was done and it was done on purpose, but the purpose of all this was something nobody in their right mind could imagine.

The pandemic was a funeral tribute to Prince Philip.

Since learning this, we've been wondering what "countermeasure" there could possibly be for such insanity.
